8:00-8:20 a.m. Continental Breakfast

8:20-8:30 a.m. Welcome, Dean Nell Jessup Newton, Notre Dame Law School

8:30–10:00 a.m. Session One: Homeownership—Promises, Perils, and Alternatives

- What are the benefits and costs of homeownership? Have we emphasized the former and disregarded the latter?
- How broken is homeownership in the U.S.? Is there an optimal level of homeownership?
- What realistic alternatives to the "full package" of traditional homeownership exist?
- What policies can ensure sustainable homeownership as well as secure high-quality housing for Americans for whom homeownership is not a viable or wise option?

INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS:

Dean Athanasia, Preferred and Small Business Banking Executive, Bank of America Lee Fennell, Max Pam Professor of Law and Herbert and Marjorie Fried Research Scholar, University of Chicago Law School

Renée Lewis Glover, President and CEO, Atlanta Housing Authority

Patricia A. McCoy, Connecticut Mutual Professor of Law, University of Connecticut School of Law

MODERATOR:

Nicole Stelle Garnett, Professor of Law, University of Notre Dame

10:15-11:30 a.m. Session Two:

Financial and Regulatory Aspects of Homeownership—Consumer Markets

- What types of home-financing options should be available to buyers? Should subprime and other nontraditional mortgages continue to play a role?
- How should the law protect consumers from misconduct in the mortgage servicing and foreclosure process?
- What is the government's role in promoting homeownership and ensuring an equitable playing field for consumers?
- What are the most promising avenues for assisting consumers who are struggling with repayment? INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS:

Mechele Dickerson, Arthur L. Moller Chair in Bankruptcy Law and Practice, University of Texas School of Law M. Todd Henderson, Professor of Law and Aaron Director Teaching Scholar, University of Chicago Law School Katherine Porter, Professor of Law, U.C. Lunch

12:30-1:45 p.m. Session Three:

Financial and Regulatory Aspects of Homeownership—Financial Markets

- Why did financial institutions and policymakers systematically underestimate the risks in mortgages? Who currently bears these risks? (homeowners? banks? the government?) Who should bear the risk?
- What is the proper role for sophisticated financial products such as mortgage-backed securities, collateralized-debt obligations, and credit-default swaps and other derivatives?
- What is the proper role for government—in mortgage markets? in regulating traditional banks and shadow banking? in providing liquidity and funding through GSEs? in controlling interest rates?
- How can financial markets facilitate homeownership without creating housing bubbles or systematic risk?

INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS:

Alfred Pollard, General Counsel, Federal Housing Finance Agency

Steven L. Schwarcz, Stanley A. Star Professor of Law and Business, Duke University

Peter J. Wallison, Arthur F. Burns Fellow in Financial Market Studies, American Enterprise Institute

MODERATOR:

2:00–3:15 p.m. Session Four: Addressing the Foreclosure Crisis

- What is the extent of the foreclosure crisis today?
- What is being done and what should be done about the "shadow inventory" in the U.S.?
- What can and should communities do to address the vacant and abandoned property problems generated by foreclosures?
- Is mortgage modification a viable option for Americans who are underwater on their mortgages and what are the obstacles to modification?
- Is additional regulatory reform needed to address these problems?
