

LL.M. in International Human Rights Law Elective Courses

(The availability of elective courses varies each year and is dependent on the availability of faculty coverage.)

- Global Human Rights Clinic (4 credits, letter-graded, for Spring Semester)
- Torts
- Freedom of Speech
- Constitutional Law II
- Civil Rights Law
- International Criminal Law
- Human Rights Reparations
- Jurisprudence: Foundations of Human Rights
- African Human Rights System
- International Dispute Resolution
- International Commercial Arbitration
- International Arbitration Advocacy Skills
- The Catholic Legal Tradition
- Cyberlaw Seminar
- Labor and Workers' Rights in Global Supply Chains
- Race and Policing Seminar
- International Law and the Use of Force
- UN Special Procedures
- Comparative Constitutional Law
- Economic, Social and Cultural Rights
- Freedom of Religion
- The Death Penalty in America Seminar
- Complex Civil Litigation
- European Human Rights Law
- Gender Issues and International Law
- Protection of Cultural Heritage
- Global Antitrust Law
- Immigration Law
- The Regulation of Social Media and Online Platforms
- Transnational Civil Litigation
- LLM Thesis (1 credit in Fall Semester, 3 credits in Spring Semester)
- Law of Education
- Federal Indian Law International Business Transactions
- Law of International Trade
- Catholic Social Thought and the Law
- Theological Foundations for the Rule of Law
- Regenerating Ecologies and Economies for Livelihoods
- Bioethics and the Law
- Reconciliation and Justice in the Post-Conflict Context
- Selected Topics in Environmental Law Practice
- International Environmental Law
- International Refugee Law
- Regional Human Rights Protection Seminar
- International Criminal Tribunals
- Human Rights in Europe
- International Religious Liberty
- Not-for-Profit Organizations Law
- Family and Fundamental Rights
- The Civil Rights Class Action
- Armed Conflict
- Philosophical Foundations of Human Rights
- Comparative Law
- Rule of Law Seminar
- Journal of International and Comparative Law

For more information about the Human Rights LL.M. program from our faculty director, Prof. Dr. Diane Desierto.